INTRODUCTION

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE OF MICROFILM INDEXES

The rolls of microfilm are lettered alphabetically, A, B, C, etc. Each drawing photographed is lettered as above and also numbered, beginning with number 1 and running consecutively to the end of the roll.

This index is arranged both alphabetically by part name and numerically by drawing (part) number.

When the drawing number is known, locate it in the numerical index. On the same line as the drawing number will be found a film index number. This film index number indicates by letter the roll on which the drawing is located, by number its position on the roll.

When the part name is known, locate it on the alphabetical index. The roll and location of the drawing on the roll are indicated as above.

Thus: Film Index C236 indicates Roll C, the 236th drawing.

NOTE:

Large oversize drawings are photographed in sections reading from left to right. The left hand section is photographed first, followed in order by the remaining sections. There is an overlap on each section. The title block is always the last section photographed. All sections of one drawing always bear the same film index number.

KEY TO SERIAL NUMBER SYMBOL

The letters following each drawing number in the numerical index indicate the serial numbers of the airplanes to which that drawing applies, according to the table below:

ARMY: Drawing numbers followed by:

"A" apply to AAF Serial Numbers AC-40-696 to AC-40-701 Inc.

AC-40-2349 to AC-40-2368 Inc.

AC-41-1087 to AC-41-1142 Inc.

"B" apply to AAF Serial Numbers AC-41-11587 to AC-41-11938 Inc.

"C" apply to AAF Serial Numbers AC-41-23640 to AC-41-24339 Inc.

"D" apply to Navy Serial Numbers 31979 to 32160 Inc.

"E" apply to Navy Serial Numbers 32161 to 32169 Inc.

A complete list of B-24D airplanes, diverted to the Navy, giving corresponding Navy-Army Serial numbers, is found at the beginning of Roll A.

APPENDIX

This Technical Order contains an appendix, arranged both numerically and alphabetically, which lists the drawings for the Special Navy Modifications. These drawings are applicable to the PB4Y-1 ONLY.

ASSOCIATED EQUIPMENT

In order to use microfilm, some means must be provided to project it for immediate reference and to reproduce it for workable copies. Therefore, to Army Air Force Service Command Hdqs. is supplied a Recordak Model C Library Reader, Stock No. 8900-686790 for projection purposes; a Recordak Model A Enlarger, Stock No. 8900-248540 for printing. To Service Groups and Depot Groups is supplied a Recordak Model A Portable Microfilm Projector, Stock No. 8900-674200, which can be used both as a wall projector and as a printer.

REVISIONS

As changes and revisions are made on the aircraft, the revised drawings will be microfilmed and sent to supplement the complete set of microfilms. Also, additional pages of this index will be included with the revisions.
